 Although they may be reserved in expressing emotion, they have a very deep well of caring and are genuinely interested in understanding people. This sincerity is sensed by others, making the INFP a valued friend and confidante. An INFP can be quite warm with people he or she knows well. INFPs do not like conflict, and go to great lengths to avoid it.

 INFJ vs INFP: How INFJs Differ From, INFPs. Out of all the Myer-Briggs personality types, INFPs and INFJs are the most commonly mistaken for each other. Superficially they do appear to have similar characteristics, but in actual fact, they are very different personality types. You only have to look at their individual functional stacks to see how different the INFJ is to the INFP; and that they don't actually share any functions.
